

Cookie Statement

LastDodo

In this Cookie Statement you can find information about the way LastDodo B.V. ("LastDodo", "we", "us" or "our") uses cookies on the websites of LastDodo, accessible through www.lastdodo.com, www.lastdodo.nl, www.lastdodo.be, www.lastdodo.de, www.lastdodo.fr and through other top level domains registered by LastDodo, including all subdomains thereof, as well as the mobile versions of that website and the LastDodo apps (iPhone and Android) ("the Website"). This Cookie Statement applies to you when you visit the Website.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files which are stored on the browser or hard drive of your computer, mobile device and/or tablet ("Devices") when you visit lastdodo.com. By placing a cookie, the webpage server can recognize your Device and return the stored information to the webpage server.

Third party cookies store a date of first and current visit in combination with the time of day. Your IP address and/or other unique device number is also collected. Our own cookies do not record this. Cookies cannot damage your Devices or the files saved on it.

Cookies can be stored for varying lengths of time on Device. A number of cookies used by LastDodo are session cookies. This means that they are automatically deleted from your hard drive when you end your session (i.e. when you log out or leave our platform). Persistent cookies Persistent cookies will remain stored on your Device until deleted or until they reach their expiry date. Our persistent cookies have different expiry dates, ranging from 90 days to several years. We never keep these persistent cookies longer than for the purposes described below. You can also delete the persistent cookies yourself via the browser settings. How to do this is explained in this Cookie Statement.

How do we use cookies?

The various cookies are explained below. We use our own cookies as well as cookies that third parties place on your Device (third party cookies).
